CEREC® opens up unlimited possibilities to fulfill the requirements and wishes of patients. The system delivers natural-looking restorations meeting the highest clinical aesthetic standards - either polished, stained and glazed or veneered.

Key Facts at a Glance:
- CEREC® users have created more than 20 million restorations
- After ten years, CEREC® inlays and onlays achieve a survival rate of 90-95%
- After five years, the survival rate of a CEREC® crown is 95%-97%
- CEREC® veneers display a survival rate of 94% after nine years

Dr. John Moore
- BDS, LDS, RCS

Dr. Moore qualified from Sheffield Dental School in 1982. As more practices privatised Dr. Moore struggled to differentiate his practice from others, but he was then introduced to CEREC® in 2003. CEREC® has revolutionised his practice and enthusiasm for dentistry, John now uses it routinely for simple restorations, multiple posterior restorations and cosmetic makeovers. Becoming an ISCD CEREC® trainer in Dubai in 2007, John now trains other dentists in the use and benefits of CEREC®.

CEREC® has transformed my practice and my patients expect high quality porcelain restorations routinely. Dentistry is fun and profitable again!

SPEAKER
Leo James

Since joining Ivoclar Vivadent in 2004, Leo James has worked as a Technical Product Specialist, Territory Manager and is now Product Manager and Guest Lecturer for CAD/CAM providing solutions for chairside all ceramics. As one of the fastest growing sectors within dental technology, Leo devotes his time to the CAD/CAM portfolio and understanding the needs of CEREC® clinicians who need to make quick and effective use of the coordinated CAD/CAM materials within the Ivoclar Vivadent chairside all ceramic system. Drawing on 11 years experience as a technician working at a private laboratory in Hampshire with all ceramics the IPS Empress system (press-able), it is Leo’s aim to provide solutions for chairside all ceramics.
